THE SOUTH-CAROLINA AND COUNTRY GAZETTE; JOURNAL.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, both Foreign and Domeſtic.

TUESDAY, JULY 22, 1766.

In our Gazette of the eighth Inſtant, we gave our Readers the ſecond, third, and fourth Chapters of the Book of the Marks; ſince which, we have obtained the firſt Chapter, which we now publiſh, as thinking it may prove diverting to our Readers, although it does not come in proper Order.

The Firſt Book of the MARKS.

CHAP. I.

1. The Murmurs of the People, and the Diviſion amongſt them. 9. Speech of a great Man in their Behalf in the Sanhedrim. 17. The Rejoicings in the great City on Account thereof. 23. A further Deſtruction of the Sp-pr.

NOW it came to paſs that after the People had waited in Expectation of Relief from the mighty Men of the great Houſe, even in the Houſe of a great Aſſembly.

2. That they grew exceedingly weary, and were very wroth, inſomuch that they returned their Ships, and their Goods, and would not let them paſs this Way nor that Way, but ſent them afar off, from whence they came.

3. And they worked each Man for himſelf, and each Woman for herſelf, and each Child for itſelf alſo.

4. And they made themſelves Cloathing and Raiment to put on, even from the Produce of their own Land in great Abundance.

5. Now it came to paſs when the great Merchants, and the Traders upon the mighty Waters, heard all that was done, they murmured amongſt themſelves, ſaying,

6. What now can we do? Our Ships and our Trade are at a Stand, and the Things that we have ſent, behold them returned upon our Hands.

7. And their Complaints grew exceedingly high, for they wot not what to do.

8. And behold a great Man, even the Man of Wiſdom and Integrity, and one of the Number of the Lawgivers, in the great Houſe of the great City, roſe up, and ſeeing the Burthens and the Troubles of the People, cried out with a loud Voice!

9. ¶ Men and Brethren! Ye perceive the Things that I long forewarned you of, that they are now come to paſs, and the Peoples Oppreſſion become very grievous before our Eyes.

10. Aforetime have I ſpoken again and again, but you would not hear, neither liſten to my Words, or to the Prophecies I foretold.

11. Therefore is this Evil come upon you, and the Children of the Land made to cry out, Fie! Fie!

12. For their Trade is now ſtopped, and their Merchandize (the Glory of the Eaſt, yea, alſo, and of the South) is become even as Nothing.

13. Therefore I ſay unto you, take off the Burthen from their Shoulders; for the Poor crieth out in the Streets, and the great Men of your Trade go mourning all the Day long.

14. Thus ſpake the good Man for the Children of the C———s, and for the Merchants, and for the Poor of the Land of Britain; yea for three Hours did he ſpeak, and he gained Applauſe.

15. But it came to paſs that while he was yet Speaking, G———e, the Son of B———l, roſe up, and uttered many Things againſt this good Man, and againſt the Words which he had ſpoken.

16. But his Tongue was as the Tongue of the Wicked, and he made no great Weight with the Clacking thereof.

17. ¶ Now it came to paſs that after theſe Things, a Report ſpread in the great City, that the Tax which had been laid on the People, would ſhortly be taken away.

18. And the Words of the good Man were made known unto them, and they rejoiced greatly thereat.

19. (For in thoſe Days there were Scribes, and Men who did cunning Work with Types, and there were alſo Devils, and they made a great Stir in the City and in the Col——es abroad, even unto America.

20. And when they had heard all that was done, they were exceeding joyful, and Gladneſs appeared in their Eyes, and they ſpake forth their Praiſes with Tongues of Gladneſs.

21. And behold the Muſick in the Steeples, and on the Cleavers, and on the Parchments, were heard through every Street, and every Alley and Court.

22. And the Inſtruments of Wind, and the Fiddle were alſo heard; but the Bagpipe was not heard all the Day long.

23. ¶ Now the Children afar off heard not of theſe Things by Reaſon of the great Diſtance acroſs the Land, and acroſs the Sea.

24. And behold they were exceeding wroth, and they laid hold of one Caleb, and John, and George, and another John; and they demanded the Papers with the Marks on the Corner thereof.

25. And their Number was very great, ſo that they dared not refuſe: So they gave unto them the Things they deſired.

26. And behold on the ſecond Month, on the fourth Day of the Month, that they laid them in a Heap, and ſet Fire thereto, and they burned them even to Aſhes, ſo that not one of them was left unburnt.

27. And they made Figures of Straw, and of Rags, and they called them Maſters of Stamps, and they burnt them alſo.

28. And behold when they had burnt all they could get, they departed joyful each Man to his own Home.

To the PRINTER of the PUBLIC LEDGER.

IN the fifth Year of the King, behold I, even I Tobias, as I lay on my Bed, had a Dream and a Viſion.—— Whilſt I was in a deep Sleep, there appeared, as it were, at my Bedſide, a Man clad in white Raiment, whoſe Countenance was dejected and ſorowful: And he ſaid unto me, Son of Man attend unto the Words of my Mouth, for my Words are Words of Truth, not only of the paſt, but of the future, and what ſhall come to paſs in the latter Days. And I thought that in my Sleep I anſwered and ſaid, Propitious Inſtructor, deign to inform thy unworthy Servant of the Things that are to come to paſs, that I may learn from thence true Wiſdom, and to know how to ſet a proper Eſtimate on the Inhabitants of this World.

Know then, ſaid my divine Inſtructor, that Men, from a Thirſt of Power and falſe Ambition, have been, through all Ages, greater Tyrants to, and Deſtroyers of each other, than have been the fierceſt Animals of Africa.

In Aſia, the Aſſyrians ſported with the Race of Man, purely to gratify her Princes, and to enrich and adorn Babylon her Capital; but when the Meaſure of her Iniquity was full, aroſe Cyrus King of Perſia, who after deſtroying the Aſſyrians, extended the Perſian Empire to the Eaſt as far as the River Indus, and to the Weſt, to the Grecian Iſlands; but Darius, a Deſcendant of his, loſt the Empire, and with it his Life.

The victorious Alexander now became Lord of the World, and wept becauſe he had not more to conquer; but dying at Babylon, his Empire was divided. Next aroſe imperial Rome, which kept the World in Arms above a thouſand Years; and having thinned the Race of Man, became Miſtreſs of the World. But the Sea of Blood that ſhe had ſpilt, calling for Vengeance, the Nations of Europe united, and having tore her Empire to Pieces, beſieged, took and deſtroyed her Capital.

Military Atchievements in a great Meaſure now ceaſed; and Men became Bigots, which produced innumerable Perſecutions, and Oceans of Blood to be ſpilt, till Anno 1492. Here, in my Dream, I thought I replied, Unhappy Race of Men, thus to be ſported with, deſtroyed, and fall a Sacrifice to the Ambition of Tyrants: But thou, O faithful Meſſenger, who hath given me an Account of the paſt, from remote Ages, deign to inform thy Servant of the Events of the latter Times.

Know then, ſaid my Inſtructor, that at this Time the vaſt new World was diſcovered by the fierce Sons of Europe. Millions of the innocent Natives they deſtroyed, and two Empires they overthrew: All the Wealth that the World was poſſeſſed of before this Period, was but as the Duſt of the Balance, when compared to that which was now found in America.

But, alas, my Son, the Ways of Providence are inſcrutable: Heaven ſeems to have abandoned the reſtleſs Race of Europe, and to permit them to be a Scourge to Aſia, Africa, and America. Alexander the European deſtroyed Perſia; the Romans waſted Europe, whoſe Sons in their Turn have inſlaved Africa, and depopulated America; but not ſatiated with their Iniquity, or glutted with Carnage, their Thirſt of Gold has carried them to the uttermoſt Borders of Aſia, and the Mogul's Empire is the unhappy Victim of their Rapacity. There, under the Pretence of Trade, they kill, plunder and deſtroy the harmleſs, inoffenſive, pacific inhabitants, and dethrone Princes; degrading one Nabob, exalting another for a Number of Lacks of Rupees; and then again reſtoring the Exile for a greater Number. But all this will not aſſuage their Thirſt of Gold; for behold, I ſay unto thee, that the Time cometh, and is even at the Door, when thou ſhalt hear, that thoſe Sons of Rapine have turned their Faces from the Peninſula of India towards the North; when the Natives ſhall ſhake and tremble at the Clangor of Arms, and the Noiſe of War.—Delhi, once the Seat of Tamerlane the Great, the ancient, the populous, the wealthy Delhi, ſhall be amazed and alarmed, Lamentation and Weeping ſhall be heard in her Streets, on the Approach of the Buccaneers.

But, my Son, thy Mind is not prepared to receive or imbibe the Whole of future Things. I will therefore not develope more.—Live well, avoid their Crimes, cultivate that Soil which God and Nature have given you; near the Half of which now lies fruitleſs, and a Deſert. Live and enjoy the Fruits of Britain with Serenity; and without invading the Property of others, by plundering and deſtroying the Nations of the Globe.

The Sun now having left our Antipodes, appeared in the Eaſt, and Morning, with her roſy Fingers, unlocked the Door of Day, he ſhone upon me, I awoke, and found the whole but a Dream. MARCUS AURELIUS.

GLOUCESTER, (ENGLAND) March 17.

WE have an Account of a very extraordinary Inſtance of the divine Vengeance that happened about a Week ago at Chalford, in this County. One Richard Parſons, a young Man of that Place was playing at Cards, and he moſt prophanely wiſhed his Fleſh might rot, and his Eyes never ſhut, if he did not win the next Game. When he was going to Bed, he obſerved a black Spot upon his Leg, from which a Mortification began, and immediately ſpread all over his Body, ſo that he died in a Day or two, his Fleſh being quite rotten; nor could his Eyes be ſhut, notwithſtanding all the Efforts of his Friends to cloſe them.—The Truth of this Fact is atteſted by many of the Neighbours who were with him.——Read it ye prophane, and tremble!

A Letter from Liverpool, dated March 14, ſays, that on Thurſday Evening, the 6th Inſtant, a moſt ſhocking Murder was committed by a Man, on the Bodies of his Wife, and two ſmall Children, at Farrington, near Preſton. The Circumſtances related of the Affair are, that the deceaſed Woman having lain-in about nine Days, the Huſband came Home, near Ten at Night, and obſerving the Nurſe in the Houſe carding of Cotton, aſked her whether ſhe would not go Home (as ſhe did not lie in the Houſe) he being deſirous of going to Bed, to which ſhe replied in the Affirmative; as ſoon as the Nurſe was gone, he went up Stairs to his Wife, and deſired to lie down by her, which ſhe refuſed, fearing he had ſome evil Deſign, and immediately jumped out of Bed, and ran down Stairs in her Shift into the Lane; when he purſued her, and intreated her to return back, promiſing he would do her no Harm, to which ſhe agreed; but ſhe had no ſooner entered the Houſe than he knocked her down with an Axe, cut off her Head and right Arm, and ripped up her Belly, ſo that her Bowels lay on the Ground; he afterwards went up Stairs, and cut off the Heads of the two Infants, and left them on the Bed, with the youngeſt Child's Heart by it's Side. When he had perpetrated this horrid Deed, he immediately went to the Conſtable (who lived near) and informed him, that ſome Perſon had been at his Houſe, and murdered his Wife and Children, to which the Conſtable replied, I doubt you are the Murderer, and aſked him how his Hands and Stockings came to be ſo bloody; ſtruck with Remorſe at the Queſtion, he immediately confeſſed the Fact, and was committed to Lancaſter Goal on Saturday laſt, to take his Trial at the enſuing Aſſizes.

A SONG.

To the Tune of the Roaſt Beef of Old England.

THE World is a Bubble and full of Deceit,
'Tis clearly obſerv'd, if we look at the Great,
Who wrangle for nothing but Places of State.

CHORUS.

Can it go well with Old England,
When Diſcord preſides at the Helm.

Would Parties ſubſide, and their Malice be loſt,
Faction be baniſh'd, and fly from the Coaſt;
Then Britons of Bleſſings the greateſt might boaſt.
Can it, &c.

From ſhifting and changing and ſudden Promotions,
What Wonder to ſee from ſuch wrong headed Notions,
Throughout the whole Land Factions, Broils and Commotions.
Can it, &c.

With baneful Diviſion we've long been tormented,
And ſhall, till ſome politic Scheme be invented,
Some fav'rable Change to make People contented.
Can it, &c.

Taxation is grown ſuch a horrible Peſt,
Very plain is it ſeen that the Lads of the Weſt,
The Cyder Act never could fairly digeſt.
Can it, &c.

And ſince their bemoaning Petitions prevail,
May not we then expect from ſo kind a Repeal,
Very ſoon to be eas'd of the Tax on our Ale.
Can it, &c.

Then if on us for Payment again they ſhould call,
To tax us alike can give no private Gall,
Though we'd rather by much they'd not tax us at all.
Can it go well with Old England,
When Diſcord preſides at the Helm.

LONDON, April 2.

April 9. Private letters from Germany adviſe, that ſeveral Pruſſian regiments, who have their quarters in Sileſia, are advancing towards the confines of Bohemia; and that 10,000 men have entered the county of Glatz, where they have taken up their quarters of cantonment. The Pruſſian troops, at preſent in Sileſia, are ſaid to amount to eighty thouſand.

April 14. On Thurſday the fourth payment of the Havanna prize money was made at the Hart-tavern, Covent-Garden; when the ſoldier that endured the fatigue of the climate and ſiege, received fourteen ſhillings and eight-pence, the lieutenant nine pounds ſeven ſhillings and nine-pence, and the other officers their proportions.

April 15. Yeſterday there was a levee at St. James's, when the Hon. Gen. William Whitmore, Eſq; kiſſed his Majeſty's hand, on his being appointed to the office of warden of his Majeſty's mint.

April 16. We are informed, that ſome perſons have been lately detected in tranſporting from the oppoſite coaſts of the channel, great numbers of Engliſh ſheep to Normandy, and other parts of France; by which practice the great woollen manufactories carried on at Abbeville are principally ſupported.

April 21. Letters from Stockholm by Friday's Holland mail give us the following abſtract of the treaty concluded between Great-Britain and Sweden.

ART. I. The high allies engage, for themſelves and their ſucceſſors, mutually to procure for their reſpective ſubjects all the advantages that lie in their power.

ART. II. The two powers ſhall reciprocally enjoy, in the towns, ports, harbours, and rivers, of their reſpective ſtates, all the rights, advantages, and immunities, which have been, or may be henceforth enjoyed there by the moſt favoured nations; excepting in the caſe mentioned in the third article of the preliminary treaty of commerce, concluded the 25th of April 1742, between the courts of France and Sweden, concerning the duties to be paid in the port of Wiſmar.

ART. III. This treaty of alliance ſhall not be prejudicial to any other power, and particularly thoſe who are friends and allies of the contracting parties; but ſhall ſerve only to cement and ſtrengthen the good harmony, confidence, and reciprocal friendſhip between the ſovereigns of the two ſtates, as well as to procure welfare for their reſpective ſubjects.

ART. IV. That this alliance may contribute the more to the benefit, convenience, and ſecurity of the two crowns, their Majeſties will conſider of other engagements that may be contracted between them, when times and conjunctures require it, for their reſpective intereſts.

ART. VI. The ratifications and exchanges of this treaty ſhall be made before the expiration of two months.

April 22. Saturday evening arrived a meſſenger from Falmouth, who came in the Liſbon packet, and brought an account, that the Admiral Stevens packet was arrived there from India, with the news of Lord Clive's arrival at Bengal, in the Kent Indiaman, Captain Mills.

The Eaſt-India company have received advice, that Lord Clive, on his arrival at Bengal, found every thing in great confuſion, occaſioned by the death of the Nabob; but, through his lordſhip's influence, the Nabob's ſon was placed on the throne; That ſoon after a peace, greatly to the advantage of the company, was concluded; and that every thing being quite ſettled, his lordſhip would ſoon embark for England, his preſence being no longer required there.

The news from the Eaſt-Indies are, in general, as important as can be conceived. The conſequences to the company will be more than two millions ſterling per annum, beſides the greateſt friendſhip being eſtabliſhed. Very lucrative offers were made to Lord Clive, but refuſed; and the Great Mogul has conferred on him the title of the firſt Omar of the empire, which is the greateſt honour that can be conferred there.

Since the above intelligence was received, ſeven meſſengers have been ſent to Holland; and India ſtock has riſen from 265 one half, to 272 ready money, and 275 for the reſcounters.

The Great Mogul has made Lord Clive a preſent of a diamond, ſaid to be worth 100,000 l.

April 26. According to private letters from Paris, it was reported, that ſome attempts had been made to deſtroy a celebrated perſonage at Rome by poiſon, but that the affair was kept very ſecret.

The ſhip Lord Ligonier, Captain Davis from Gambia, is arrived with diſpatches from Governor Debatt, of James Fort, to the government, giving an account of the great encroachments made by the French; they having erected ſeveral faſtorits, and fortified them with cannon, contrary to treaty.

April 29. It is whiſpered, that Sir Edward Hawke will ſhortly appear at the head of a great department.

Since the news of Lord Clive's ſucceſs reached Holland, very large commiſſions have been received here from Amſterdam, for the purchaſe of property in the Eaſt-India company's funds.

By ſome letters received with the laſt advices from Bengal we are informed, that the annual ſum of two millions of money ſterling will be granted to the honourable the Eaſt-India company, in conſequence of which a large body of ſtanding forces are to be continually kept up, in order to protect the Nabob and his dominions in thoſe parts.

We are likewiſe informed that the right hon. lord Clive will receive 50,000 l. per annum for the ſervices lately done by his lordſhip, to the hon. Eaſt-India company and his country, in the Eaſt-Indies.

It is ſaid that with the dignity of firſt Omar of the empire of Indoſtan, with which the great Mogul had inveſted lord Clive, his excellency was alſo preſented with a gold chain enriched with jewels, to the value of twenty-five thouſand pounds.

It is ſaid, that there has been more money made by buying and ſelling India ſtock, on the late good news from lord Clive, than ever there was at any one time during the late war.

We are informed, that the Popes gallies will be employed this ſummer in carrying over the biſhop of his church to Canada, whom he is ſaid to have obtained leave to ſend thither, together with a proper cargo of relicts, indulgences, and other Popiſh valuables.

There is a handſome Medal ſtruck and diſtributed, about the ſize of a crown piece, on which is the head of Mr. Pitt with his name, and for the reverſe the following inſcription: The man who, having ſaved the parent, pleaded with ſucceſs for her children.

It is expected that more lame ducks will waddle out of the Alley next month than have been known for many years paſt.

Letters from Ratiſbon, by this day's Holland mail, bring an account of the death of the reigning Count of Oetingen Wallerſtein, of an internal inflamation, occaſioned by anodyne remedies for a violent fit of the gout.

A great number of rings, ſet with the head of Mr. Pitt, it is ſaid, is intended to be ſent as preſents to ſome of the principal merchants in America, by their correſpondents in this city.

Extract of a Letter from Calcutta, dated October 1, 1765.

" Soon after the meeting of the ſelect committee, they tho't it highly neceſſary to endeavour to reſtore a firm and laſting tranquillity as ſoon as poſſible, to thoſe diſtracted countries, and thereby to revive the long drooping ſpirit of trade, and ſecure to the poor native his life and property, by putting the government under ſuch regulations as to prevent all future wars, rebellions, and oppreſſions, as far as human prudence could prevent and bind them. The committee accordingly deputed, and gave full powers to Lord Clive and General Carnac, to go up the country and eſtabliſh a peace with the King, or Great Mogul, who was then with our army in Suja Dowla's dominions, near Benares. The peace that was happily concluded between the King, Suja Dowla (his Grand Vizier) and the Engliſh Eaſt-India company, among many other circumſtances, contains the following, viz. To reſtore to Suja Dowla all his dominions, on the terms of his paying the King a clear royal revenue of one million, two hundred and fifty thouſand pounds ſterling, annually, and to allow the Engliſh Eaſt-India company, an uninterrupted trade through them duty free. As the kingdom of Bengal, and its annexed provinces, uſed to pay to the throne, by way of royal revenues, about the ſame ſum with the above ſtipulation made to the King, though the ſeveral deductions for the maintainance of officers, &c. on that account, reduced that ſum conſiderably: And as the Nabobs of Bengal have thrown off their allegiance to the throne, and paid no royal rents ſince the invaſion of the famous Nadir Shah, or Kouli Khan, into this empire, in the years 1738, and 1739, who took the capital of Delhi, and the Great Mogul priſoner, ſince then, neither Bengal, nor any of the more diſtant provinces, have paid any revenues to the throne; the King, therefore, willing to recover the right of theſe from Bengal, agreed with Lord Clive to inveſt the Engliſh Eaſt-India company with full power, right, and authority, to collect the antient royal rents of theſe countries for themſelves, on condition of their duly paying to him therefrom, the clear ſum of three hundred and twenty thouſand pounds ſterling, annually; the overplus ariſing from thoſe counties to be the company's property, which will amount to about twice as much more, clear of all charges.

" To which is to be added, that the King has made the company his royal tenants, or perpetual landholders, of the three provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orixa, which was the rank and priviledge inveſted heretofore in the Nabobs of Bengal, but not to exclude the Nabob entirely from the poſſeſſion of his anceſtors, the Eaſt-India company have engaged to pay him annually ſeven hundred thouſand pounds ſterling, out of theſe revenues, for the ſupport of his dignity, and ſome troops; ſo that now, both the power and vitals of this government being inveſted in the hands of the company only, neither the preſent, nor any future Nabob of theſe provinces, can, if they would, interrupt, or be oppreſſive to the eſtabliſhed government; for the beſt of them, when they have it in their power, are not to be truſted; and the company muſt be at the expence of keeping a good ſtanding army here; both to awe our neighbours into peace and quietneſs, and to repel any foreign power, whether Europeans or others, whoſe jealouſy or avarice our great acquiſitions may excite to invade us.

" Beſides theſe extraordinary grants from the King, Lord Clive has alſo engaged him to make over to the company, lands on the coaſt of Coromandal, about Maſſulapatnam, and other places, where the French had ſome years ago, very opulent poſſeſſions; to be now under the preſidency of Madraſs, of value equal to what his Lordſhip has obtained for the company in Bengal; the whole amounting to three millions of pounds ſterling annually:—Glorious acquiſitions ſurely! For, as to the grants heretofore obtained by Mr. ———, which its ſupporters in Europe made ſuch prodigious boaſt of, they did not exceed ſix hundred thouſand pounds annually, more than what was yearly eat up by our very great military expence in the war: So that in reality the company were not a ſhilling gainers in the year's end; not to conſider that thoſe lands were the purchaſe of the treaty made with Coſſim Aly Cawn in 1760, to ſupplant him in the Nabobſhip, which ſubſequently brought the company's affairs, in theſe parts, to the very brink of ruin, by the furious war that ſucceeded, and the bloody maſſacre of too many of our brave countrymen.

" Our preſent opulent acquiſitions will not only pay off all the neceſſary charges of government, both civil and military, at the three preſidencies of Bengal, Madraſs, and Bombay, but alſo furniſh money ſufficient to provide the annual inveſtments of the different Indian goods, that may be wanted for all the ſhips that the company yearly ſends to this part of the world, as well as ſufficient to ſupply the exigencies of the company to the China markets, inſtead of their being neceſſitated to ſend, as heretofore, large ſums of money, or bullion, part for India, but the greater part to purchaſe the commodities of that ingenious and politick people; ſo that now the article of exportation of ſo much ready ſpecie, which has been ſo grating to the nation, will be hereby entirely removed; and in lieu of it, nothing but the manufactures of our own country need be ſhipped off for the Eaſt-Indies, for which the company will receive their uſual full cargoes of all the rich Indian and China commodities in return."

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE.

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 12.

Extract of a Letter from London, March 26, 1766.

" I VERY ſincerely Congratulate you on the Repeal of the Stamp-Act. His Majeſty's gracious Intentions ſignified in his Speech from the Throne, ſo expreſſive of his paternal Care of all his People, recommending to both Houſes of Parliament, a calm, diſpaſſionate, though ſtrict Enquiry into the Tumults that had ariſen in North-America, had all the Effect that could be expected from the Moderation ſo replete with Tenderneſs and Forbearance, therein recommended; the Parliament giving the moſt immediate, ample, and unprejudiced Attention to this important Buſineſs, and at length, after the moſt minute and circumſtantial Information by Evidence and otherwiſe, and after ſundry warm Debates, this great Point for the Colonies hath been carried. This Repeal of the Stamp-Act ſtrongly Evidences the Moderation, unexampled Lenity and Tenderneſs of Parliament, and will naturally impreſs your Minds with Sentiments of the moſt reſpectful Gratitude to the Mother Country, and which I have no Doubt will be productive of, and ſhew itſelf in a chearful Obedience to the Laws, and Legiſlative Authority of Great-Britain.

" In the Courſe of the Enquiry Meſſrs. Howard, Moſſes, and Major James, were called to the Bar of the Houſe, and I muſt do them the Juſtice to ſay, did all great Honour to their Characters; no Expreſſion like Prejudice or Reſentment for the Treatment they had received, dropped from them in the Courſe of their Teſtimony; particularly the Major, who anſwered to the Queſtions aſked him with Boldneſs, Knowledge, and without Paſſion or Prejudice, and when the Enquiry led to the unwarrantable and tumultuous Proceedings that he was witneſs to at New-York, he ſeemed to wiſh to draw a Veil over them, and unprovoked at, or forgetful of the Injuries he had perſonally ſuffered by the Outrage of the Populace, ſpoke with Tenderneſs of thoſe miſguided People, and far from ſhowing any Acrimony againſt Particulars, I cannot hear that either in public or private he has pointed out any Perſon or Perſons, as Leaders or Inſtigators of the Outrages that were committed.—And let me add, that many here are of Opinion, that the Teſtimonies of thoſe Gentlemen, particularly his, had great weight in perſuading the Repeal of the Act."

NEW-YORK, JUNE 5.

Yeſterday being the 4th of June, the Anniverſary of our moſt gracious Sovereign's Birth-Day, it having been previouſly determined by the Gentlemen in Town to celebrate the ſame with all poſſible Demonſtrations of Joy, in Token of our Loyalty and Gratitude to our beloved Monarch, who ſo lately, on the 18th of March laſt, together with a large patriotic Majority in both Houſes of Parliament, heard the Cry of the diſtreſſed Americans, and repealed that intolerable Grievance the Stamp-Act, and are now planning other benevolent Acts:—Therefore to impreſs theſe Bleſſings on the Minds of the People, and make them ſenſible of the Happineſs we enjoy in our Union with, and Dependance on Great-Britain,—the Morning was uſhered in with the Ringing of Bells of every Congregation, who however they may differ in ſpeculative Tenents, heartily concurred in their Love and Loyalty to the beſt of Sovereigns.—By 7 o'Clock they began to prepare to roaſt two large fat Oxen, on the Common, which was ſoon crowded with many Spectators, to gaze at the mighty Roaſt-Beef. At 12 o'Clock a Gun was fired from the Fort, as a Signal for the Council, the General, and Military Officers, the Corporation and all the Gentlemen to wait on the Governor, to drink the King's Health; and never on ſuch an Occaſion before, was the Company ſo numerous or ſplended: Now the Battery Guns fired a Royal Salute, and the Air reſounded with the joyful Acclamations of, Long live the King, the Darling of his People. Soon after, this Salute was anſwered by the Men of War, and Merchant-Veſſels, decked in all their Pageantry of Colours. The Preparations in the Common attracted our Attention; on each Side there was an Ox roaſting, a large Stage with 25 Barrels of Strong Beer, a Hogſhead of Rum, Sugar and Water, to make Punch, Bread, &c. at one End a Pile of 20 Cords of Wood, with a tall Maſt in the Middle, to the Head of which was hoiſted twelve Tar and Pitch Barrels, and placed on a Round-Top. At the other End of the Common, were fixed 25 Pieces of Cannon, and at the Top of a Maſt, a Flag-Staff, with Colours diſplayed.

The principal Inhabitants gave an elegant Entertainment, to the Governor, the General, and Military Officers, the Miniſters of all Profeſſions, and all the Strangers in Town. Though the Company was about 340, every Thing was conducted with the greateſt Regularity and Decorum. At the King's Health a Royal Salute was fired by the Guns in the Common, and at each Toaſt afterwards a Salute was given to complete 28, the Number of Years of the King's Age.——

Beſides the Oxen, and other Preparations for the People in the Common, the Overplus from the ſeveral Tables were ſent there to be diſtributed, not forgetting the New-Goal, and Poor-Houſe: In the Evening the Town was illuminated in the grandeſt Manner that was ever ſeen here, particularly the Governor and General's Houſes; and though the Streets continued crowded all the Evening, yet we do not hear that there happened any Diſputes, Quarreling, or Accident.

June 30. The General Aſſembly of this Province, now ſitting, have come to the following Reſolutions, viz. That Proviſion be made for furniſhing the Barracks in the Cities of New-York and Albany, with Beds and Bedding, Fire-Wood and Candles, and Utenſils for dreſſing Victuals, for two Battalions, not exceeding 500 Men each, and one Company of Artillery, for one Year. That an Equeſtrian Statue of his preſent Majeſty, be erected in the City of New-York, to perpetuate to the lateſt Poſterity, the deep Senſe this Colony has of the eminent and ſingular Bleſſings received from him during his moſt auſpicious Reign. That for the many eminent and eſſential Services done the Northern Colonies by the Right Honourable WILLIAM PITT, Eſq; but in particular in promoting the Repeal of the Stamp-Act, and to perpetuate to the lateſt Poſterity the grateful Senſe this Colony entertains on that Account; Proviſion might be made for erecting an elegant

Statue of him in Braſs.—They have alſo ordered, that a Piece of Plate, value £. 100 Sterling, be preſented to John Sergeant, Eſq; of the City of London, with the Thanks of the Houſe, for his having chearfully undertaken, at their Requeſt, and to their great Satisfaction, faithfully diſcharged the Truſt of ſpecial Agent, and liberally declined any Allowance for his Trouble.

The 26th Inſtant, the Light-Houſe at Sandy-Hook was ſtruck by Lightning, and twenty Panes of the Glaſs Lanthorn broke to Pieces; the Chimney and Peache belonging to the Kitchen, was broke down, and ſome People that were in the Houſe received a little hurt, but are ſince recovered. 'Tis ſaid the Guſt was attended with a heavy Shower of Hail.

All our Accounts from the Country round about, are full of the Effects of the late heavy Rains, ſuch as the beating down the Grain, overflowing the Lands, &c. inſomuch that the old Farmers begin already to predict a Calamity of ſome Kind or other throughout America.

BOSTON, June 24. We hear that the Honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives have appointed a Committe to prepare an humble Addreſs of Thanks to our moſt gracious Sovereign, for his Royal Aſſent to the Repeal of the Stamp-Act.

SAVANNAH, (in GEORGIA) JULY 9.

The Number of Spaniards arrived at New-Orleans did not exceed One Hundred about the Beginning of laſt Month; and none of the French had left the Place. More Spaniſh Troops were daily expected.

The laſt Accounts from the Cherokee Country inform us, That the Northern Tribes continue their Incurſions againſt the Cherokees, who are extremely deſirous of having a Peace concluded with thoſe reſtleſs Enemies.

The Captains Eaſtwick and Johnſon, both for this Port, left Philadelphia before Capt. Maſon; the former 15 Days, and the latter Five.

Laſt Night Capt. John Schermerhorn arrived here from New-York, after a tedious Paſſage of 40 Days, owing to the ſtrong Southerly Winds which we have had for ſeveral Weeks paſt.
